1 Strengthening the Foundation for Youth Service Policy
The goal of this session is to prepare participants to be effective advocates for youth service policy. Increasingly, policymakers, educators, and practitioners understand that effective policies provide a secure foundation for supporting youth service program development and the sustainability of these programs over time. This session will share experiences about youth service policy development, including examples from Innovations in Civic Participation's Small Grants project, which facilitated the youth service policy movement in ten countries. The session will also provide time for small group discussions on enabling factors and challenges to youth service policy development.
